Community Health Worker
Coverage in Minnesota Health Care Programs

Since July 1, 2008, the Department of Human Services has covered Community Health Worker (CHW) services in our public programs. On an individual level, CHW services consist of targeted, diagnosis-based health education designed for clients who may have challenges interacting with the medical system due to language or cultural barriers. On a system level, CHW services extend the reach of medical professionals into underserved communities by opening up a means for culturally appropriate, back-and-forth communication between practitioners and their patient panels.

The following provider types can bill for CHW services:

- Advance Practice Registered Nurse
- Clinic
- Community Health Clinic
- Critical Access Hospital
- Dentist
- Family Planning Agency
- Federally Qualified Health Center (not outside the encounter rate)
- Hospital
- Indian Health Service (IHS) Facility
- Mental Health Professionals
- Physician
- Public Health Clinic Nurse
- Rural Health Center (not outside the encounter rate)
- Tribal Health Facility
